BIODEGRADABLE, THERMOPLASTIC SHAPED BODIES EXHIBITING AN IMPROVED STABILITY WITH REGARD TO HYDROLYSIS AND AN IMPROVED RESISTANCE TO STRESS CRACKING

Publication number: JP2002532603T

Publication date: 2002-10-02

Inventor:

Applicant:

Classification:

- international: B65D30/02; A23L3/00; B32B27/36; B65D33/01; B65D65/46; C08G18/42; C08J5/00; C08L67/02; C08L67/04; C08L69/00; C08L77/12; C08L87/00; C08L101/00; C08L101/16; B65D30/02; A23L3/00; B32B27/36; B65D33/01; B65D65/46; C08G18/00; C08J5/00; C08L67/00; C08L69/00; C08L77/00; C08L87/00; C08L101/00; (IPC1-7): C08L101/16; A23L3/00; B32B27/36; B65D30/02; B65D33/01; B65D65/46; C08J5/00; C08L87/00

- European: C08G18/42; C08L67/02; C08L67/04; C08L69/00B; C08L77/12; C08L101/00

Application number: JP20000588268T 19991206

Priority number(s): DE19981057655 19981215; DE19991051021 19991022; WO1999EP09526 19991206

Also published as:

WO0036014 (A3)
WO0036014 (A2)
EP1144507 (A3)
EP1144507 (A2)
EP1144507 (A0)

more >>

Report a data error here

Abstract not available for JP2002532603T

Abstract of corresponding document: WO0036014

The invention relates to biodegradable, thermoplastic shaped bodies, especially single-layer or multilayer films, which exhibit an improved stability with regard to hydrolysis, an improved stress cracking behavior, and an improved behavior with regard to biodegradation. The inventive thermoplastic shaped bodies consist of a blend comprised of at least two different biodegradable polymers.